

Later that day Claire came into my room carrying a new blue hat with a red “C” for the Chicago Cubs—my favorite team.

“It’s for you,” she told me.

She put her arms around me and hugged me tight. I put on my “Cubbies” hat and laid down on my pillow. I was tired.