

During the winter months I regained my strength, and by spring, I was attending school all day. It felt good to be with my classmates again and not be missing out on anything. Most of all, I loved when the baseball coach wanted to talk to me.

Coach Robbins asked, “Will you be coming out for baseball?”

“Sure,” I said.

