

Baseball practice was fun, but it seemed like I was having a hard time in batting practice. The bat seemed so heavy and I only hit the ball once. It was a grounder and it only rolled about 20 feet.

After practice, Joey asked me to come and eat pizza with him. I called Claire when we got to his house and she said that it was okay.